Full Itinerary

Begin your royal adventure in the not-so-modest home of the Roman emperor Diocletian. His colossal 1,700-year-old palace is not only a UNESCO World Heritage Monument, but also a popular hangout for locals of Split and the cast of Game of Thrones.

As we wander into the heart of the city, peristil, we'll discover the secrets of Diocletian's life hidden in the walls of the world's best preserved Roman palace – find out why he loved salad so much and why a piece of the mythical White Stone can make you happy.

It is no secret, however, that the way to a Dalmatian's heart is through the stomach. We'll show you a traditional fish market, peskarija, where locals have been buying fresh seafood for centuries.

Your mouth will surely be watering by now, so we'll take you for a traditional Dalmatian snack fit for a king – air-dried smoked meat, soft sheep cheese, octopus salad, anchovies and olives. During your snack, your local guide will regale you with Split tales, past and present. And of course a Dalmatian meal is never complete without a glass of wine. After all, wine is one of our oldest traditions and a staple of the Mediterranean diet, so just stay calm and do as the Romans do!

We'll finish our tour on the Riva promenade, leaving you feeling as satisfied and pampered as the emperor Diocletian himself.

Our local guides will point you to their favourite coffee shops and the best spots for an evening of Dalmatian delicacies and entertainment.
