Full Itinerary

Barclays Center is right in the middle of downtown Brooklyn and surrounded by vibrant neighborhoods like Gowanus, Boerum Hill, and Fort Greene. Get a sense of what else happens in Brooklyn (aside from serious basketball, of course) through its neighborhoods, food, drink, and history.

Your local guide will meet you at a subway station and lead you on a personalized excursion that will hit some of Brooklyn's most iconic spots. We may visit a sprawling food court with tons of local food and drink options, or an immigrant-run Middle Eastern falafel joint. Perhaps we'll get a peek inside one of the borough's local craft breweries to see where innovative beer is made and hang out with locals in the tap room. Or if weather permits, we may find our way to a rooftop bar to see the borough from a different perspective.

As you stroll, chat about the most recent happenings in the NBA and hear the latest on the Nets. There's also an opportunity to stop by a nearby shop that sells Nets gear so you can be properly outfitted before the game.

Throughout it all, you'll head into local neighborhoods getting a glimpse of either some iconic brownstones or some stunning street art murals. Learn about the history of these neighborhoods and how Brooklyn has bounced back to be a thriving borough that now rivals Manhattan as a place to live, hang out, and create.
