Full Itinerary

Vivid Light is one of the most exciting festivals to fall on Sydney. After dark, the city's famously photogenic harbourfront transforms into an open-air art gallery, with a wonderland of light art sculptures, innovative light installations, and grand-scale projections blasted on downtown buildings.

It's the largest festival of its kind in the world, which is what makes it awesome... but also a bit frustrating. It's easy to just follow the mob and wander aimlessly — which is why we're going to give you the local treatment! Don't get lost in the crowd of thousands; instead, join our local guide as they show you the hidden and lesser-known installations down back alleyways and around dark corners.

Vivid Light takes place all around Circular Quay and The Rocks, two of the most famous districts of Sydney, both bursting with stories to be told. So, in addition to checking out the fabulous installations of Vivid, we'll share the tales that have shaped these areas. As you check out some of the coolest light-themed artwork in the world, you'll also learn the history behind the district, and discover how Sydney became the place it is today.

Come hear the stories behind the festival and the history of this region on a two-hour walking tour that gives you a local's look at Vivid Light.
